CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Jobbers Devote the Week to Entertaining Their Friends.

COUNTRY CUSTOMERS CROWD THE CITY

Business Men Highly Gentified with Results Derived from State Pair-Omaha Jobbers Secured Many New Customers.

The curse of business was decidedly out of the ordinary last week and nothing like it has been experienced here in a long time. The trade of this city has been so necustemed to the pursuit of the old and well beaten path that it seemed quite a noveity to have the routine of buying and selling placed on the shelf for a whole week. "We have been holding a regular ovation all the row that the crowd has disappeared," said "This has been the greatest week that we ever experienced," said another jobber, "and I believe that I would be safe n saying that we have shown 2,000 people, our customers and their friends, through our place of business. We had every one of our traveling men in the city to entertain visitors and then we could not give our callers all the attention that we desired." Similar remarks are heard on every side and it is safe to say that the great majority of the jobbers of the city are exceedingly well pleased with the results of fair week. As a matter of course, there will be found men who figure the value of an enterprise of any kind from the amount of cash which they happened to take in, or from the volume of their sales, and such individuals will say that the fair, while a success, did not pay them. The croakers, however, appear to be in a hopeless minority. The majority of the jobbers did not expect any great amount of immediate business to result from the holding of the state fair in omain. The results, however, have more than met expectations. So many of the retail merchants of the state brought in complimentary orders that most all of the jobbing houses have had about all that they could do. The sales of the dry goods people were very large and the Boot and shoe mendid a very comfortable business. The grocery and hardware houses find that the total of their sales for the week amounts to a much larger aggregate than anticipated. men who figure the value of an enterprise

MEAT INSPECTION.

head in Ohio.

Eastern Packers Make a Big Howl Over the New Regulations. Local packers who are interested in the tary Morton requiring all meats for export to be inspected will not in any way affect their business. The order does not port to be inspected will not in any way affect their business. The order does not go into effect until October 18, and from that date local houses will see to it that all packages for export bear the government stamp. The order is generally locked upon as a result of the reports sent over the country a few months ago to the effect that horse meat was being extensively exported.

The representative of a local packing house says that all the talk about slaughtering houses for meat is utter foolishness. In the east horses that are good enough for meat are worth more money for other purposes, and no one could afford to slaughter them. In the west the best estimates place the number of range horses available for slaughtering purposes at only 52,000. A few of these horses are being slaughtered at Portland, but the business is so small as to be unworthy of the attention that has been given to it. Even if they did work up a trade for horse meat the supply of horses is so limited that it would never amount to anything.

Eastern packers and exporters do not appear to take a favorable view of the new inspection regulations. They say that western packers slaughter their own beef, and there are government inspectors at 10 omain, Chicago and points where the great dressed beef houses are located, and they can easily comply with the law at once, except for such stock of packed beef as they may have on hand. But there are no government inspectors in eastern cities. Besides, eastern packers do not slaughter as a rule, but obtain all their supplies from local butcher shops whose beef is in turn not slaughter be impossible, they claim, to get a certificate of inspection for the great bulk of beef packed east.

STRANGER WITHIN OUR GATES. A Philadelphian Gives His Impressions of Omaha. Mr. J. H. Paist, chief clerk of the select council of Philadelphia, publishes in the Star of his home city his impressions of Omaha, its depot, the surrounding empire and the crops. He says:

"In Nebraska last year much suffering was endured by the farmers. The long sum-mer drouth left them without crops and means of sustenance. The neighboring mer drouth left them with the neighboring means of sustenance. The neighboring states, which had been more fortunate, came to their assistance and sent them an abundance of food and raiment to carry them along to another season. They have Big Receipts Were Leading Factors in the Wheat Market.

CORN WAS HEAVY AND TRADE LIGHT

Usual Saturday's Dullness Prevailed in Outs and Liquidation in Provisions Holdings Was Much Indulged In. CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Big receipts re-ket today, and December closed %c lower. May corn lost 4c, May oats 4c, and provisions closed at declines.

Wheat ruled weak. Nearly all the surrounding conditions were against the price; the Liverpool cables were lower, domestic markets easier, the deliveries in the northwest again heavy and local speculation was dull and narrow. There was little demand, the shorts apparently being well evened up. December opened at 58%c, fell steadily to 57%c, improved some, and closed

Corn was heavy. The premium which cash corn has been bringing is disappearing, and there seems very little between the longs and lower prices. September, from 325gc at the close yesterday, dropped graduall# from 315gc at the start to 315gc.

gradually from 31%c at the start to 31%c, and it was at 31%c at the close. May closed at from 25%c to 29c.

The usual Saturday duliness prevailed in the oath market. May ranged at from 25%c to 29%c, and closed at the latter price.

Liquidation of October holdings of provisions continued, and the prices made a further decline. Pork for October sold down to 57.8%, and that was all it was worth at the close. January sold at $9.30, and closed at $9.35, or 7%c lower than on the day before. Lard dropped 5c of its previous value for October, and January and ribs kept even with the decline in lard.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

Securities Opened Active and Irregular with Slight Changes. NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The stock market opened active and irregular, with but slight changes in prices. The speculation is assuming a decided tone, and on com-paratively light trading advances were scored extending to 1% per cent in Chicago Gas, 1% per cent in Southern preferred and Sugar, 1% per cent in Southern preferred and Sugar, 1% per cent in St. Paul, 1 per cent each in Tennessee Coal, Missouri Pacific and Corriage gnaranteed. Tobacco opened 1% per cent lower at 9%, rallied to 160%, and receided to 99% at the close. The advance in the general market was stemmed for a brief interval around 10:30, and then prices again moved upward. In the late trading there was an easing off of the top figures, in part due to the final raid on Tobacco. The market closed generally firm, and as a result of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally, and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally, and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally, and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally, and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally, and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally and an approximate the work of the day's operations final prices showed fractional gains generally and an approximation of the final control of the final scored extending to 1% per cent in Chl-cago Gas, 1% per cent in Southern pre-

Sugar eased off a slight fraction, then jumped 5½ per cent to 105½, reacted to 105½, and closed at 105½, leaving a net gain of 5½ per cent. Lond common, after a decline of 1½ per cent early, jumped 5 per cent on the realization of the long expected dividend of 1 per cent. The net gain was 3 per cent. The rallway list has been strengthened by the harmonious progress of the negotiations for the rehabilitation of trunk line and connecting rates, and the coalers were stimulated by the successive advances in coal prices, both here and in Philadelphia. An easier tendency to the exchange market exerted important influence upon the general speculation.

rooms have the most approved methods of making the royal road smooth. That, for example, of the W. K. Vanderbilt house had a ceiling freecoed with the heavens and the planetary system, a lesson in astronomy always in order, as it continuously stimulated inquiry from the growing young minds.

One of the best equipped of these private school rooms was that of Mrs. Hoyt, who was Janet Chase, the daughter of the chief justice, at her Palham house. The school room was also a workshop. Here the boys worked in iron, for it had a forge, and here the girls had their wood carving tables. All of these young people served hours at their benches as if they were apprentices.

After this period a form of private education in vogue is classes of three or four children from an intimate circle. This, it is leaimed, gives companionship, yet prevents undesirable intimacles, such as are formed at school. In this case the school room is fitted up in one house and thither the children are up in one house, and thither the children are brought by their maids. They are taught by epical visiting teachers. These are always expensive. There is always one or another clucational fashion in vogus. At one time it is soffege, at another it is electric; more recently it has been physical culture. Neither and none of these is of essential importance, but for their brief hour they are imperative, absorbing and expensive.

CATTLE-It was the jast day of the week and only forty-two fresh loads were in the yards, a light run as compared with previous days, but fair for a Saturday With so few cattle here there was no great life to the trade and no new features of especial interest. There were a few western grass cattle good enough for the killers, but not many. The market did not show any material change, values remaining about steady or that class of cattle. There were a few good cornfed natives in the yards, part of formation was given out in the various ofthem being of the same bunch that was ficial reports. here on Tuesday, and sold for $5.40. The here on Tuesday, and sold for $5.40. The market on native cattle was slow and a little lower, the bunch referred to bringing only $5.20.

Cows and helfers were in good demand and the market active at fully steady prices. In addition to the good local demand, shippers were on hand with orders that added life to the trade.

The usual Saturday's quiet prevailed in the stocker and feeder division. The market, however, was steady and the offerings were pretty well cleaned up before the close. Representative sales:

SOME GRAND ARMY STATISTICS. Figures Taken from the Reports Submitted at Louisville.

During the recent session of the Grand Army of the Republic at Louisville an immense amount of interesting statistical in-The report of Adjutant General C. C.

Jones contained the following table, giving the posts and membership in each depart-ment June 30, 1894, and the number of posts holding charters the same date:

ndian Terrifory 742 50 TT 106 51 68 exas ... rgainia and No. Carolina 53 Fashington and Alaska. 58 Vest Virgiana 59

Wisconsin 24 12.65

The total amount expended for charity was $198,898. He recommended that the time for holding the department encampments be not before January 1.

The report of Inspector General C. V. Pond showed that the posts have $1,305,912 in securities and $1,919,067 in other property, in securities and $1,919,067 in other property, a total of $3,251,970. The concerning flags on the public schools, although incomplete, fourteen departments not answering the questions addressed to them, shows that in many departments there have been legislative enactments making it compulsory upon school boards to furnish schools with the stars and stripes. The comrades in the southern departments are appreciating the benefit of the movement. In the forty-five districts reporting, the number of school houses supplied with flags was 25,310. Pennsylvania leads with 5,747. Then follows Onic with 4,844, Illinois with 3,724, and Iowa with 3,167.

houses supplied with flags was 25,316. Pennsylvania feads with 5,747. Then follows Ohic with 4,844, Illinois with 3,724, and Iowa with 3,167.

The report of George B. Wingate, special aid in charge of military instruction in the public schools, shows that it has met with opposition on the part of the Quakers, the Women's Christian Temperance union and some of the labor unions. The progress made, however, has been very satisfactory. Relatively, it has been greatest in the eastern and middle states. In New York City there are sixteen regiments with 10,666 drilled boys. General Johnston, commander of the confederate velerans, was earnestly in favor of the system. So were the western states. Without exception the teachers in ail the schools where the system has been adopted speak of it in the highest manner. It is found to make the boys more obedient, brighter, more particular in regard to personal appearance, to create a manly, self-respecting spirit and bearing and in addition to make them patriots and loyal little American soldlers.

The report of Quartermaster General J. W. Burst shows receipts from all sources, $23,427; expenitiures, $20,493, leaving a balance of $12,338. The receipts from the percapita tax were $9,154, a decrease of $293.

Fire Burns Valuable Timber Land MILWAUKEE, Sept. 21 .- A special to the Wisconsin from Appleton, Wis., says: Fire has again broken out in Center swamp and has burned over quite a tract of valuable timber. The rain of last night checked it considerably, but unless long continued, soaking rains come, the whole swamp seems destined to burn. It has been absolutely impos-sible to extinguish the fire, as it burns into the ground to a depth of two feet among the roots and peaty soil. As long as the fire into a blaze, and hopes of saving the timber of the swamp are nearly abandoned.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE As many complaints are coming to the Chicage Board of Trials showing that persons in ending to deal in grain and provisions through members of the Board and subject to its rules and regulations are misled into dealing with persons of firms who have no connection with this Board, the public is continued against dealing with such persons or firms, and is natified that CEORGE F. STONE, Secretary, will answer any inquiries as to whether any particular person or firm is GEORGE F. STONE, Secretary.
